

- Interested in biology, ecology, and environmental science careers?
- Looking to gain a big boost on your college applications and resumes?
- Want to gain access to fun workshops and practice for the FFA competition?

Now Accepting Teams for 2020 Envirothon

Forestry

Plant Identification and Keying
Forest Ecology and Structure
Practices and Decision Making

Wildlife

Identification from Specimens
Organism Interactions
Habitat Preservation

Soils and Land Use

Soil Properties and Formation
Nutrients and Nutrient Cycling
Groundwater and Drainage

Aquatic Ecology

Water Quality Assessment
Watershed Delineation
Reducing Water Pollution

Water Resource Management

The 2020 Current Issue
Local Control and Local Solutions
Ground and Surface Water Hydrology

Envirothon is North America's largest high school environmental science competition

*

Teams compete on their knowledge of 5 environmental topics

*

Regional winners will represent their counties at the state competition in May

*

State winners will have the chance to compete for scholarships with students from across North America

*

National Competition:
University of Nebraska
Lincoln, NE
July 26- Aug. 1, 2020

For more information
Contact Chris Towe at 253.845.9770 x112 or
ChrisT@PierceCD.org

National Envirothon Website
<https://www.envirothon.org/>

